

Arura Clinic of Natural Medicine

Description:

Dr. Shandor Weiss, Naturopathic Physician and Licensed Acupuncturist, specializes in diagnosing and treating difficult cases and conditions. With the use of biofeedback tests (aka electrodermal or EAV testing), Dr. Weiss can find the precise cause(s) of each patient's problems. Causes of eating disorders may be emotional, metabolic, genetic, hormonal, neurological, spiritual, environmental, or a combination of factors. For example, a patient who binges may have a self esteem issue, a blood sugar problem, and a genetic variance on starch metabolism, all together. Some cases are more esoteric, e.g., it may seem like the patient has a low self esteem problem, but really the cause is an empathic or psychic perception of a parent's suppressed disapproval. Then the patient uses purging to rid themselves of the feelings from the other person. There are many, many other possible causes of these problems, also. With a comprehensive individualized approach, and using electrodermal test
