

Andrea Gerber, Ph.D.

Description:

I am a licensed clinical psychologist specializing in the treatment of eating disorders. I utilize cognitive-behavioral, psychodynamic and supportive techniques to both reduce symptoms and gain insight into underlying causes. I received training in the research and treatment of eating disorders at Massachusetts General Hospital and Cornell University Medical Center and have served on multidisciplinary treatment teams at New York University and Fordham University. I work collaboratively with nutritionists, psychiatrists, and internists as needed. My office is located on W. 70th Street between Central Park West and Columbus Avenue and is convenient to the 1, 2, 3, B and C subway lines.
