

Abigail McCrea, MFT

Description:

I specialize in showing young women and men that recovery from an eating disorder is possible! I help individuals and families affected by eating disorders how to proactively work through a potentially life threatening illness. I use a collaborative approach which includes working with other treatment team providers as well as supporting the individual through a variety of treatment options (groups, individual, couples, family, and friend). I look forward to supporting you and your family towards recovery.
