

Anorexia Nervosa Study

Description:

Are you:

- Concerned about your shape and weight?
- Worried about gaining weight?
- Considered underweight for your height?

Free confidential treatment provided to those who are eligible.

Boston University's Center for Anxiety and Related Disorders is now enrolling participants (ages 18 or older) in a research study at the Eating Disorders Program. The Center is investigating a novel treatment for anorexia nervosa and low-weight eating disorders, including education and counseling.
