

Tamar Kelson, PhD, LLC

Description:

I offer treatment of bulimia, binge-eating and anorexia with a special emphasis on overcoming associated body image problems. My approach helps people examine unmet needs which may be perpetuating their eating difficulties. I help people to actively address and manage their eating behaviors while also developing a deeper understanding of the meaning behind their struggles with food. I have been treating clients with eating disorders for over 20 years and I recently opened an independent practice which offers a comfortable, peaceful and private office space.
