

Walden Living

Description:

Walden Living provides a supportive living environment for individuals with eating disorders and anxiety disorders. Our program serves individuals in multiple levels of treatment, including partial hospitalization, intensive outpatient treatment, and individual outpatient treatment.

Walden Living offers both personalized coaching services and fully furnished apartments to assist individuals with integrating their treatment into independent living. Individuals in our program progress through three distinct levels to build a foundation for their recovery. Each level is defined and centered on each individual's specific situation; integrating treatment team recommendations and their goals and aspirations for the future. Working closely with our experienced Personal Coaches, the program offers support for individuals to develop the skills needed to regain their health and independence.
