

Angie Heim, LMHP

Description:

My primary focus has been in eating disorders, including binge eating, since 2008. Each individual has their own story, triggers, tribulations, and triumphs that have brought them to this moment. It is their unique story, offerings, and strengths, that will assist them in their recovery. It is with gratitude that I work with my clients, at being invited to share in this story and becoming a source of support and education. Additionally, support groups will be offered every other month. Please call or email for details.
