

Binge Eating Research Study Opportunity

Description:

Do you overeat and feel out of control with food?

Women Needed for a Paid Research Study

The Eating Disorders Clinic at Temple University is conducting a study looking at brain function in perception of food. This study involves taking pictures of your brain.

We are looking for women with binge-eating disorder. This study is a good match for you if you are:

• 18 years or older,

• Female,

• Meet criteria for Binge-Eating Disorder

• Are a healthy weight (body mass index of 19-25) or overweight (body mass index of 30-35)

• And are prepared to participate in two to three in-person appointments lasting between four to six hours each.

You may receive a total of $120 with travel expenses covered for completing appointments.

For more information, please contact our Research Coordinator at 215-204-2645 or visit us online at <http://sites.temple.edu/tedp>.

Address Line 1: Temple University 1701 N. 13th Street

Country: USA

State: Pennsylvania

City: Philadelphia

Zip: 19122

Website: <http://sites.temple.edu/tedp>